

ABSTRACT

[0023] A method and system to add protocol support for network traffic tools is described. The method includes querying a file that defines a protocol for which
5 protocol support is to be added to a network traffic tool, determining from the queried file how packets for the protocol are constructed, and building a protocol runtime specification based on how packets for the protocol are constructed.